It's late morning. The children are in front of the school. Today they are visiting the science museum.

Tom: Is everybody here?

Jasmine: Yes, we are all here.

David: Let's go to the science museum then.

Jasmine: But, where is Mr Southgate?

David: He is waiting for us in front of the museum. How are we going there?

Melanie: We can go by underground.

Jasmine: But we haven't got an underground here.

We are not in New York.

David: We can go by bus or on foot.

Luka: What's the address?

David: 34 High Street.

Luka: Let's go on foot. It's not far from.

Later...

Lolly: Where now?

Luka: I think we must turn left... Or maybe right...

Jasmine: Is it left or right?

Luka: Well... this way.

Luka: Here we are!

Tom: But this is not the science museum. It's the theatre.

Luka: Oops... the wrong address.

David: This is Hill Street, not High Street.

Jasmine: Let's ask somebody to help us.

David: Excuse me, can you help us?

Man: Yes, of course.

David: We are looking for the science museum. Where is it?

Man: Go straight on. Turn left at the traffic lights. The science museum is next to the bank. You can't miss it.

David: Thank you.

Man: You're welcome.

Luka: You see... I'm an excellent guide.

Children: Ha! Ha! In your dreams!
