SPEAKING

1 Listen and read the talk.

Then answer the questions on page 149.

Mrs McBright: Have you ever heard about the Globe?

Chris: What is it?

Mrs McBright: It is a famous theatre where only the Shakespeare's plays are staged.

Chris: Can we visit the theatre?

Mrs McBright: Yes, we can. Let's go there tomorrow.

Chris: I've never been to an open air wooden theatre, where the audience stand around the stage.

Mrs McBright: The Globe Theatre was opened in London in 1997. It's a copy of William Shakespeare's Globe theatre. The original theatre burnt down over four hundred years ago.

Chris: What a pity! Oh, the audience is very noisy.

Mrs McBright: The audience was very noisy in Shakespeare's time, too. They cheered and clapped and often threw rotten¹ fruit at the bad actors.

Chris: Could I go and buy a programme?

Mrs McBright: OK. Let's hurry up, the play is going to start soon.

¹rotten ['rɒtən] —
гнилий
